This privacy policy discloses how we collect, protect, use and share information gathered about you on our Web sites. We hope that this disclosure will help increase your confidence in our sites and enhance your experience while utilizing the information we provide to you.

- Normal Web Site Usage. When you browse our Web sites, you are anonymous. Personal information such as your name, address, telephone number or e-mail address is not collected as you browse. The only data we collect and store during normal Web site usage is typical Web server log data. Examples of this type of data are: the name of your Internet service provider, the site that referred you to us, any pages you request, the time and date of those requests, etc. We use this information to generate statistics and measure site activity to enhance your experience on our sites. This information may be collected through third party providers who have a different privacy policy than Lenders Service Corporation but whose policy(ies) stipulate that they do not collect personally identifiable information during this process.
- Personal Information Collected on this Web Site. Personal information is collected only when you voluntarily provide it to us. For example, we collect personal information that site visitors provide when they complete any online form, application, survey, resume or when they request a quote for insurance. We also collect and store the contents of e-mail you send to us, along with your contact address and our response. This information will not be shared beyond our company, unless it is necessary to share this information with insurance companies or other third parties in order to provide you with the requested services. You will not receive unsolicited e-mail, telephone calls or other marketing materials as a result of your visit to our Web sites. We will not sell your personally identifiable information to any third party.
- Use of Cookies. A cookie is a message sent to your browser from a Web server that is stored on your computer's hard drive. The message is sent back to the Web server whenever the browser requests a page from that server. Many commercial Internet sites use cookies. While a code in the cookie file enables the site to label you as a particular user, it does not identify you by name or address. We use cookies to better tailor our Web sites and our products to your interests and needs. Cookies may also be used to help speed up your future activities or to improve your user experience. We do not use cookies to retrieve information from your computer that was not voluntarily provided by you. The use of cookies is an industry standard and you will find them at most Web sites. Most browsers are initially set to accept cookies. If you would prefer, you can set your browser to refuse cookies or to alert you when cookies are being sent. However, rejecting cookies may prevent you from using certain functions and you may have to enter information to take advantage of services.
